

Automation Complacency

When a system is highly reliable, people stop paying attention to it.

If you measure
people on...

...trusting the
automated system.

Then you might get...

...people ignoring obvious signs of failure right in front of them.

