

Fairness-Accuracy Impossibility

When you try to make a system fair, you find it's mathematically impossible to satisfy everyone's definition of fairness.

If you measure people on...

...achieving a perfectly
'fair' outcome.

Then you might get...

...endless arguments, because any choice is unfair by someone's metric.

